

President Irked by Holt Of Free Speech In Washington's Forum

WASHINGTON—No one has been more amused and a little irked than the President at the action of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in barring the Washington "Town Hall" forum from its palatial building.

Although the Town Hall is privately financed, it was Government-inspired by forthright John Studebaker, new Commissioner of Education. And it has had Roosevelt's enthusiastic support.

The first meeting was held in the sanctum of the Chamber of Commerce. It was a staid affair, at which Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, and other reasonably respectable citizens spoke.

But Silas Strawn, high mogul of the Chamber, forbade future meetings. He described the speakers as a "cross-section of crack-brains." Chief among the "crack-brains" were: The Earl of Lytton, Donald Richberg, S. Parkes Cadman, Sir Willmott Lewis of The London Times, Benjamin Anderson of the Chase National Bank, A. A. Berle, City Chamberlain of New York, William Green of the American Federation of Labor, and Norman Thomas.

Among the sponsors of these "crack-brains" are General Pershing, Eleanor Patterson, Justice Owen Roberts, Senator Joe Robinson, Mrs. Roosevelt, and Father Edwin A. Walsh.

So, although not yet generally known, Roosevelt has determined to get PWA funds with which to build a forum where free speech can reign regardless of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Presidential Humor

One of the hits in Eddie Dowling's side-splitting new political take-off on Washington is a skit suggested by Louey Howe and the President, himself.

It depicts Rex Tugwell, No. 1 Brain Trustee, and his Agricultural chief, Henry Wallace, standing in Times Square, New York. They are bent upon carrying out their crop curtailment program and they are leading one cow and four pigs.

All day they stand trying to give them away. Thousands pass. Finally at the end of the day, they call up the President in Washington.

"What," he explodes, "you spent all day in New York and couldn't give away one cow and four pigs? Well what am I going to do with the millions of other cows and pigs I've got to get rid of?"

Louey and the President even worked out some of the lines in skit.

Retiring

Senator George Norris is considering retiring to private life when his present term expires in 1936. Ten years ago he proposed shaking the dust of Washington in order to reorganize the government of Nebraska. Liberals all over the country deluged him with appeals to remain in the Senate, and he finally bowed to the demand.

At the recent election his pet project of abolishing two-chambered legislatures and substituting a unicameral body was overwhelmingly adopted by Nebraska.

U. S. CANNERS EXPECTED TO ELECT H. ORR

Ohio Convention Begins
In Columbus With Code
To Be Assailed

LOCAL MAN SPEAKS

National Unit Meets In Chicago Jan. 14

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11.—Howard A. Orr, of Circleville, O., canning executive, today was mentioned as the next president of the National Canners' association as 350 representatives of the industry gathered here for a convention of the Ohio Canners' association.

Orr at present is a director of the state organization and first vice president of the national association.

Election of new officers for the national association will be held at a convention of 18,000 canning officials in Chicago, Jan. 14.

SUPPORTED SOLIDLY

Orr, it was learned here today, will have the solid support of the Ohio canners in his candidacy for the presidency. He has held several other offices in the national association, and officials at the convention here declared he probably would be elected president without serious opposition.

Ohio canners are planning a vigorous protest against the NRA regulations for labor and labeling in the canning industry.

Led by James Stoops, of Van Wert, chairman of the label committee of the National Canners' association, the convention is expected to unanimously reject the NRA rule requiring A, B, and C grade labels.

The canners will also formulate a formal protest to NRA code authorities against the maximum eight-hour day for canning factory employees and the double wage provisions for overtime work. The industry in Ohio employs more than 40,000 persons at the peak of the canning season.

TEAGARDEN IN CHARGE

Formal sessions of the convention were to get under way at 1 p. m. today with the opening address by O. L. Teagarden, of Oak Harbor, O., president of the state canning association. Dr. T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio State University, and William Evans, assistant attorney general, were included on the afternoon speaking program.

Action on the labeling question will be taken tomorrow following

EDUCATION BOARD TO CHOOSE SUPERINTENDENT NEXT WEEK

Regular Meeting Is Next Tuesday Evening; Three Are Mentioned.

The board of education will meet next Tuesday evening to elect a new superintendent to succeed Edwin L. Daley, for whom funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Mr. Daley was serving in his second year as superintendent after being district school supervisor for nearly 15 years.

Charles H. May, president of the education board, made the announcement Tuesday that the important meeting would be held next week. It is possible the board will meet between now and next week to discuss applicant and possibly reduce the number who are seeking the job. Although the vacancy has prevailed only a few days many are already seeking the position.

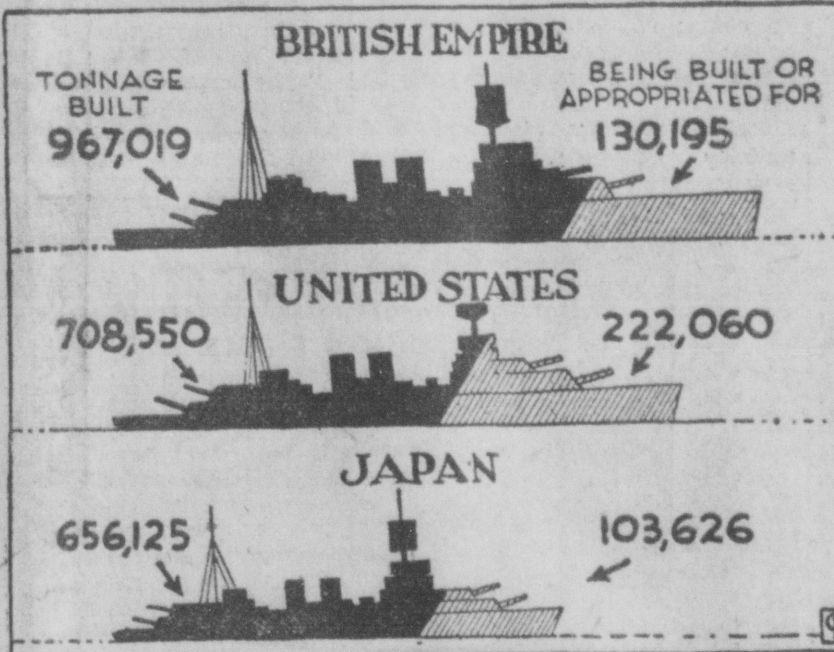

3 ARE MENTIONED

Rumor has it that the board of education will not go outside the city to obtain its new superintendent. That brings up the names of three persons as possibilities, E. I. Gephart, who is serving his seventh year as high school principal; Frank Fischer, member of the high school faculty, and J. O. Eagleson, former superintendent.

It is believed all three either will be or are applicants.

Under instructions Mr. Gephart is now handling the duties of superintendent and principal as he will continue to do until some provision is made by the board of education.

BRUNO WINS

Hearing For Bill of Particulars
Granted By Justice
Trenchard.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 11.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged with the murder of Baby Lindberg, today scored his first victory in his fight for life with the state of New Jersey when Supreme Court Justice Thomas Trenchard set Thursday as the date for argument by Hauptmann's counsel for an order to show cause why the state should not be required to grant a bill of particulars in the case.

Hauptmann was present in court as Frederick A. Pope, of defense counsel, presented his motion requesting that the state reveal the evidence on which it bases its charge of murder.

"Do these gentlemen represent you, Mr. Hauptmann?" Justice Trenchard asked, referring to Attorneys Pope and Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington.

The agate-eyed prisoner, taciturn, sullen, nodded his head and muttered:

"Yes."

Justice Trenchard will preside at the trial.

Today's trip out of the Flemington-co jail was Hauptmann's first since he was taken there nearly two months ago.

He was brought into court at the express order of Justice Trenchard who refused to hear Pope's motion until Hauptmann was brought in.

Lansing, Mich., Scene of Tragic Blaze

LANSDING, Mich., Dec. 11.—Fire Chief Hugo R. Delfs said at 10 a. m. that at least 37 persons perished in the Kerns hotel fire early today.

Chief Delfs said he had been unable to check the number of bodies recovered, but that he arrived at the death toll estimate of 37 by comparing reports brought in by his men who were going into the ruins.

The hotel was filled with state legislators called to Lansing for a special session.

Only two of the dead were identified. They were Rep. T. Henry Howlett of Howell, Mich., and I. Wisniewski of Los Angeles.

Three others, a woman and two men, jumped from windows to the icy streets and died of their injuries, on the way to Sparrow hospital.

Police said four more bodies were taken from the Grand river, in which many of those trapped in the hotel were feared to have drowned. The doomed guests leaped from windows into the river, which flowed along one wall of the building.

REGISTER BURNED

Firemen and officials could only guess at how many victims lay among the smoking ruins. No check on the guest list was possible because the register was destroyed by the flames.

Thirty were known to be injured in St. Lawrence and Sparrow hospitals. It was believed others were receiving treatment at private homes or smaller hospitals.

William Kerns, and his wife, who owned the hotel and occupied a lower floor suite, escaped in their night clothing. The building was an old brick structure, for many years a favorite meeting place for legislators and politicians.

The fire, starting from some unknown cause about 5:30 a. m. it roared through the entire second floor, cutting off the hundreds of guests who were on the two top floors. The walls collapsed within half an hour after firemen arrived.

David Monroe, brother of the hotel manager, and stepson of Kerns, the owner, was believed among the dead. He was not seen after he plunged into the smoke-filled lobby in an effort to rescue some of the guests.

The fire extinguished all lights in the hotel a few moments after the night clerk, I. J. Jones, discovered it after a guest had phoned the desk saying he smelled smoke.

POST OFFICE URGES HELP OF MAILERS

List of Requirements Outlined With "Shop and Mail Early" Paramount.

The following recommendations for sending Christmas mail and packages were announced today by Postmaster Hulse Hays upon instructions of Postmaster General James A. Farley:

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day the public should SHOP AND MAIL EARLY. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends, and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

WRAPPING AND PACKING
All parcels must be securely packed and wrapped. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

SPECIAL PACKING

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Crate suitably or thoroughly wrap so that they cannot cut through the wrapping.

FRAGILE ARTICLES
Articles easily broken or crushed must be securely packed and crated or boxed. Use liberal quantities of excelsior, or like material, in, around, and between the articles and the outside container.

Glassware, fragile toys, or crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit.

Cigars: Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted. Pack in a manner to prevent damage by shock or jar. Wrap in corrugated pasteboard or similar material. Cigars must be in good shipping condition.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked "FRAGILE."

A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. DO NOT MAIL CHRISTMAS GREETING CARDS IN RED, GREEN, OR OTHER DARK COLORED ENVELOPES, OR IN VERY SMALL ENVELOPES.

It is obtained by affixing a SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamp of the proper denomination, or its equivalent in ordinary stamps, in addition to the regular stamps. When ordinary stamps are used, the words "SPECIAL-DELIVERY" must be written or printed on the envelope or wrapper immediately below but never on the stamps. It is urged that all mailers desiring immediate delivery of any matter mailed by them affix SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamps thereto. SPECIAL-DELIVERY is for speed and not for safety.

MATTER NOT MAILABLE AT PARCEL-POST RATES
Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels.

Communications attached to parcels: A letter placed in an envelope, addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and fully prepaid at the first-class rate, may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent separation therefrom and not obscure the address on the parcel.

an address by Mr. Orr. Orr will speak on "The New Label Requirements."

Stoops, in explaining the stand of the canners, declared that the organization wanted a descriptive label instead of the graded label. "The NRA thought it was protecting the public when it ordered us to grade our cans," Stoops said, "but fruit and vegetables under the code can now be rated at either 70 or 79 per cent and still be grade C stuff. Yet the 79 per cent product is almost grade B.

"Under a descriptive labeling plan we would be able to tell the consumer exactly what is inside the can."

Stoops termed the working requirements of the NRA for canneries "absurd."

VON BORA HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY; ELECTS OFFICERS

Beautiful decorations appropriate for the approaching Yuletide season were predominant at the annual Christmas party of the Von Bora society of Trinity Lutheran church Monday evening in the Parish house.

A delicious dinner preceded the society's business and program. Miss Magdalene Trump was chairman of the committee in charge.

The dining room where about fifty members and guests assembled was colorful with Christmas greens, symbols and red candles.

The long tables were uniquely arranged forming a star and in the center of the star was a beautifully lighted and decorated Christmas tree under which were the gifts brought by the members for exchange.

The tables lighted with red tapers were attractive with red crepe paper streamers in the center and greens and symbols. Christmas greeting cards were used as place cards.

Following the dinner hour Mrs. James Stout, president, conducted a short devotional period consisting of prayer by Dr. Troutman scripture, and group singing of carols.

During the business meeting officers for the ensuing year were elected. Mrs. Mary Bower was named president; Miss Lucile Crist, vice president; Mrs. E. S. Merriman, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Fox, assistant secretary; Miss Bernice Cook, treasurer, and Miss Helen Crist, pianist.

The society voted to send $25 to a missionary in India for Christmas and $10 to a minister in Idaho. A committee of five was appointed to sell Christmas seals for the benefit of the sanatorium in San Antonio, Texas.

Following the business session Mrs. Elmer Wolf read two interesting Christmas legends and a clever number was given by Mrs. William Fitzpatrick which afforded much amusement. She was introduced as an editor of a large newspaper visiting here in the city and read a number of Santa Claus letters supposed to have been written by members of the society.

A contest was then enjoyed. Each member was to draw a Santa Claus and prizes went to the persons having the best drawings. Mrs. Elmer Wolf, first and Mrs. E. S. Merriman, second. Bringing the happy evening to a close Santa Claus in the person of Gladden Troutman distributed the gifts under the tree which afforded a merry hour.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

STRONG TEAM SEEN

Announcement that the Circleville Athletic club will support a cage team this winter is greeted with pleasure. The club aggregation should be plenty tough with Barnes, Hegele and Purcell each adding a year's experience to back up the veteran members of the squad who include Steele, Parks, Gordon and Merriman. Games are being lined up and some interesting aggregations are expected to come here during the winter season.

ACADEMY HERE

In addition to the club team the high school's play last Friday made it many friends and a continuation this week would mean a real cage year. The Tigers handled the ball better than any team since the Central Buckeye league title was won way back when. The Red and Black can hardly be expected to turn back the Columbus Academy team Friday but by putting up a good game the crowd is certain to be pleased.

COUNTY TEAMS TOO

Add the fact that the county teams have entered another of their hot campaigns and it seems that Circleville and Pickaway will have plenty of basketball this winter.

GOPHERS HONORED

Selection of the Minnesota football team as the best in the nation under the Dickinson rating system means that the Gophers will receive the Rockne football trophy. It will be presented by Professor Frank Dickinson, originator of the rating system.

Status Under Fire

Eleanor Holm Jarrett

Charges that Eleanor Holm Jarrett gave her personal endorsement to an advertisement for a swimming suit led to hearings before the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union in Miami, Fla., during which the amateur status of the swimming star was questioned.

BUCKEYE CAGE TEAMS STRONG

Wesleyan Defends Honors; All Teams Have Numerous Lettermen Back.

By Gilson Wright

DELAWARE, Dec. 11—“The Buckeye conference will be tougher than ever during the coming basketball season.”

This statement, from Coach John Mauer of the Miami team, is typical of the sentiment that pervades Buckeye basketball circles this winter.

Each of the five competing colleges boasts a combination better than last year, and even then a great race was furnished followers of the sport. Ohio Wesleyan champion last winter, has six lettermen back; Cincinnati, which tied with Marshall for second place, has five lettermen; Marshall has only a few veterans but will be stronger due to some exceptional sophomores material. Ohio, which dropped near the cellar last winter, has five lettermen, and so does Miami, the last-place team of a year ago.

Cincinnati's team again will be built around Carl Austing, all-Buckeye center, who shone as a sophomore last year.

Ohio Wesleyan not only has six lettermen but also some brilliant sophomores, one of whom is John McAdams, Urbana, who may win a regular berth on the first team.

The Buckeye schedule does not begin until Jan. 5, but until that time the five conference teams will get plenty of tuning up in non-conference games. This week, for example, will find most of the teams busy. On Wednesday night Hanover will be at Cincinnati, Georgetown at Miami, and Wilmington at Ohio. On Friday night Ohio Wesleyan will meet Goodyear at Akron, and on Saturday night Wilmington will play at Cincinnati.

MAJOR LEAGUE MEET STARTS

Many Rumors Reported But Nothing Yet Done In Way of Trading.

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—The Boston Red Sox can have Oscar Melillo as their 1935 second baseman if they're willing to part with outfielder Solters, an odd infielder or two (if they aren't a little odd, they aren't in Boston) and cash. . . . Walter Berger, hitting outfielder, and Dutch Brandt, the pitting pitcher, aren't for sale by the Braves. . . . Terry already has obtained his right-hand hitting outfielder from another national league club but nobody knows who he is. . . . The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh deal for Babe Herman and Cucinello is definitely not on at the moment. . . . Babe Ruth is not looking for a job but his volunteer lookers would fill the New York aquarium. . . . That's a splendid idea. Even the fish wouldn't know which side of the glass they were on.

MEET THREE DAYS

These, briefly, are a few of the overnight developments as hundreds of baseball men prepared this morning to air the adenosids and irk the heels for the next three days. Maybe I shouldn't have mentioned the heels. Somebody is liable to take offense, not knowing which heel out of so many I might mean.

Anyhow, and not to make a short story long, the annual meetings of the major leagues are down on the schedule here starting today, with, I suppose, much oratory and little action promised.

Some weeds can compete with good bluegrass. A few examples among many are bull thistle, Canada thistle, ironweed, white yarrow, and milkweed. By persistent mowing, these weeds may be kept in check.

KINGSTON

The Men's Brotherhoods of Tarleton, Laurelville, Adelphi, Hallsville and Kingston will enjoy a chicken dinner on Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The men are invited to bring their wives and sweethearts. A special speaker with an orchestra and special musical numbers, will be presented. Let all members be present.

The Whistler Aid society met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dwight Rector and enjoyed an all day meeting with a potluck dinner served at the noon hour. Forty members and guests enjoyed this delightful Christmas party.

Mrs. Charlotte Boden received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Amelia Yoders of Green-co, Pa. Mrs. Yoder was 84 years of age.

Mrs. Francis Snyder and son, David Lee and Miss Ada Merriman spent from Friday until Sunday evening with friends in Columbus.

building used as a kitchen. They had settled down to await rescue, witnesses said, when a falling wall buried them from sight. The thin ice which sheathed the river at the rear of the hotel was peppered with hundreds of holes. Some were made by falling bricks and pieces of debris. Other larger ones marked the spots where the bodies of those who leaped from the rear windows crashed into the river.

It was feared that many bodies would be found in the mud of the river bed. The water behind the hotel was not more than five feet deep, and firemen said those leaping from the third and fourth floors might have plunged into the muck and been trapped there.

The Hotel Wentworth, part of the same building, but divided from the Hotel Kerns by a fire wall, was saved from the flames, and its guests escaped without casualties.

Appalled by the tragedy which followed the summoning of the unprecedented special session to determine election results, the house of representatives met briefly and recessed until 3 p. m. It was believed the entire session would be recessed until Friday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 11.—A 76-year-old woman invalid was carried to safety by firemen and 35 other persons, including many children, were driven out into the bitter cold today when a two-alarm fire swept three tenement houses.

Mrs. J. N. Horton, 76, who had been ill in bed, was rescued by firemen who responded to an alarm turned in by two patrolmen who discovered the blaze. Extreme cold hampered efforts of firemen who concentrated their efforts in preventing the spread of the fire to other wooden tenements nearby. The blaze started in a garage between two tenement houses.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 11.—Despite efforts of the Swansea and Fall River fire departments aiding the Somerset department in fighting the conflagration, fire today had apparently doomed the

A SKETCH In Memory of My Friend

By J. W. J.

It has always seemed to me that Bulwer Lytton expressed the nearest factual conception of immortality and a future life when he poetically declared, "There is no Death." There is no death, the leaves may fall and flowers may fade and pass away; They only wait thru wintry hours, The coming of the May.

And ever near us the unseen, The dear immortal spirits tread; For all the boundless universe Is Life—there are no Dead.

In Pike-co among its rugged hills, Edwin Leonidas Daley first saw the light of the world and in honor of his family and near of kin, a village on the Peepee, was named Daleyville. Just across the stream and on a northern hillside, stood the log cabin in which the son was born. A few steps to the east, is the village graveyard in which sleep the father and other kins-folk. No other spot in all the world, held the fascination for him as did the scene of his birth; and although, with his parents, he began the journey northward at a very early age, he never lost interest in the old farm home and its environment. There was the deep, dark and rocky wooded glen along which a small stream meandered toward the creek and the cabin home. A score or more of times in some fifty years of absence, accompanied by his pals of Pickaway, the old home scenes have been re-visited. It were as if

The roses nowhere bloomed so white as in Pike; The sun nowhere shone so bright as it did in Pike; The birds nowhere sang so sweet, And nowhere hearts so lightly beat, For heaven and earth seemed to meet, Down there in Pike.

In the course of time, the cabin home with all its fond and early associations, was left behind and the family moved to Jackson for a year or two. Then the Plains of Pickaway beckoned and for awhile the big Emmitt farm south of Circleville became the home of the Daleys. Ultimately, a final change was effected in the establishment of a permanent residence near New Holland. Here the father died and Edwin, the youngest of the family went to live with his eldest brother, making a farm hand in the summer and attending the village school in the winter. In due time he graduated from the high school with a further ambition to teach and to secure a college education.

In the absence of a father, there came the time when Edwin was compelled to consider the welfare of a widowed mother and at least one sister. He faithfully responded to this obligation, the mother passing away since the removal to Circleville. Out of a large family of eight children but one survives, the sister Mary at the home in Park Place.

It will not be out of place to mention, just here, that one of Mr. Daley's long-time associates, was W. M. Reid now retired. Both began the work of teaching at about the same time, their efforts being substantially, contemporaneous. Together they secured their first certificates, likewise, their high school and life certificates; they removed to Circleville at about the same time and for more than forty years, at no time widely separated they continued to be an effective influence in matters of education and school management.

Mr. Daley was rapidly demonstrating his efficiency as a city school Superintendent. His place will not be safely and easily filled. He was a right-minded and progressive educator; an exemplary citizen, an honor to family and community life in all their relations.

The subject of this memoir, came into the world breathing the atmosphere of pioneer life and living. The forests, many of them, were still uncut. Mud roads were the only arteries of travel. Farm life, albeit, fundamental as to food, raiment and shelter, was rugged and yet essential to future development and comfort—

Though humble were the homes of old And gray, against the maples gold And wahoo's red, yet they were still A home to those who crossed its sill At dawn and noon and even-tide.

Behind the plow and the hoe, there was born in this lad of the farm, a love for books and a desire for learning. Not unlike a Lincoln to whom he has been likened in physique and stature and in an ambition to accomplish, he kept up his work in school by the light of a lamp following a day in the fields. Some twenty years ago and subsequent to much of his work done in the country schools, he removed to Circleville where he has since made his home in the Lindsey residence in Park Place. It was from this home that he laid to rest in Forest Cemetery the mother over whom he had watched and for whom he had cared tenderly for many years; and by whose side in God's Acre, he now takes his place. Edwin L. Daley was, essentially, a child of Nature. As he grew in years his interest in the world's out-doors, increased. Nominally, he was a votary of religion and the church. But more and more as the shadows lengthened, he worshiped more earnestly and we believe acceptably, in God's First Temples. He reveled in forest and field; in the verdure of spring, in the gold and brown of the autumn time; in the growing crops and in the plenitude of a plenteous harvest. It was as if he had said—

I love a field that runs along Beside an old rail fence; The other side of which there grows A tangled mass of grape and rose To make a hedge-row dense.

A field all planted in straight lines, Of satin-bladed corn, That waves and flutters in the breeze Like pennants windward borne.

I follow down the narrow ways, Each path a tasseled aisle, Until I reach the old rail fence And there I rest awhile.

I love a field of rustling corn, A grape-vine covered fence; The perfume of the sweet wild rose, A breeze that from the woodland blows Beyond the hedge-row dense.

In his unexpected departure, beside a host of friends wherever he was known, he leaves to mourn a bevy of Nature-lovers and amateur botanists one among whom and one of the most beloved, Harry G. Stevenson, preceded him in the long way that all must tread alone. Together from time to time, they roamed over hills and through valleys and caverns in southern and central Ohio, discovering, identifying and cataloguing, hundreds of the state's new and interesting flora. These pilgrimages were not infrequently made on a Sunday and may be their devotions were unorthodox; and yet there was the calling of the hills in whose shadows were the dim cathedral aisles that beckoned to reverent thought and praise, unhindered.

The gift of song was withheld from our friend whom we now mourn. But those who knew him best and most intimately, will agree that the following stanzas, under the caption of "The Autumn Woods," contain the very essence and interpretation of his soul—

Yellow and red and golden brown, Fluttering, loitering, leaves come down; And shrilly insistent the crickets call.

From every cranny and nook and wall. So what, the duty and conscience frown, Can keep me penned in the teaming town?

Soft white silk from milkweed pod, Sun-bright bloom of the golden rod,

Driven by a north wind that reached a velocity of 45 miles an hour, the blizzard centered its fury on Chicago with the eastern part of the city bearing the brunt. Suburbs and towns to the west escaped the storm which extended no further north than Waukegan, Ill.

Weather forecasters said the freak storm was due to a sudden shift of moisture-laden wind from Lake Michigan that condensed as it hit the shore line.

Airplane schedules were interrupted but not entirely suspended by the storm. Extra crews were necessary to keep switches open and railroad on schedule.

OFFICER INJURED
A tragic accident occurred at the height of the blizzard's fury, Policeman Herbert Eckel, while helping to carry a negro woman to the county hospital for the birth of a baby, was crushed against his patrol wagon by an automobile. Aputation of both of Eckel's legs was necessary and in answer to radio broadcast, 100 patrolmen volunteered their blood for transfusion.

President Irked by Holt Of Free Speech In Washington's Forum

WASHINGTON — No one has been more amused and a little irked than the President at the action of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in barring the Washington "Town Hall" forum from its building.

Although the Town Hall is privately financed, it was Government-inspired by forthright John Studebaker, new Commissioner of Education. And it has had Roosevelt's enthusiastic support.

The first meeting was held in the sanctum of the Chamber of Commerce. It was a staid affair, at which Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, and other reasonably respectable citizens spoke.

But Silas Strawn, high mogul of the Chamber, forbade future meetings. He described the speakers as a "cross-section of crack-brains."

Chief among the "crack-brains" were: The Earl of Lytton, Donald Richberg, S. Parker Cadman, Sir Willmott Lewis of The London Times, Benjamin Anderson of the Chase National Bank, A. A. Berle, City Chamberlain of New York, William Green of the American Federation of Labor, and Norman Thomas.

Among the sponsors of these "crack-brains" are General Pershing, Eleanor Patterson, Justice Owen Roberts, Senator Joe Robinson, Mrs. Roosevelt, and Father Edwin A. Walsh.

So, although not yet generally known, Roosevelt has determined to get PWA funds with which to build a forum where free speech can reign regardless of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Presidential Humor

One of the hits in Eddie Dowling's side-splitting new political take-off on Washington is a skit suggested by Louie Howe and the President, himself.

It depicts Rex Tugwell, No. 1 Brain Trustee, and his Agricultural Chief, Henry Wallace, standing in Times Square, New York. They are bent over carrying out their crop curtailment program and they are leading one cow and four pigs.

All day they stand trying to give them away. Thousands pass. Finally at the end of the day, they call up the President in Washington.

"What," he explodes, "you spent all day in New York and couldn't give away one cow and four pigs? Well, what am I going to do with the millions of other cows and pigs I've got to get rid of?"

Louie and the President even worked out some of the lines in skit.

Retiring

Senator George Norris is considering retiring to private life when his present term expires in 1936. Ten years ago he proposed shaking the dust of Washington in order to reorganize the government of Nebraska. Liberals all over the country deluged him with appeals to remain in the Senate, and he finally bowed to the demand.

At the recent election his pet project of abolishing two-chamber legislatures and substituting a unicameral body was overwhelmingly adopted by Nebraska. Now, 73 years old, and with

U. S. CANNERS EXPECTED TO ELECT H. ORR

Ohio Convention Begins In Columbus With Code To Be Assailed

LOCAL MAN SPEAKS

National Unit Meets In Chicago Jan. 14

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11.—Howard A. Orr, of Circleville, O., canning executive, today was mentioned as the next president of the National Canners' association as 350 representatives of the industry gathered here for a convention of the Ohio Canners' association.

Orr at present is a director of the state organization and first vice president of the national association.

Election of new officers for the national association will be held at a convention of 18,000 canning officials in Chicago, Jan. 14.

SUPPORTED SOLIDLY

Orr, it was learned here today, will have the solid support of the Ohio canners in his candidacy for the presidency. He has held several other offices in the national association, and officials at the convention here declared he probably would be elected president without serious opposition.

Ohio canners are planning a vigorous protest against the NRA regulations for labor and labeling in the canning industry.

Led by James Stoops, of Van Wert, chairman of the label committee of the National Canners' association, the convention is expected to unanimously reject the NRA rule requiring A, B, and C grade labels.

The canners will also formulate a formal protest to NRA code authorities against the maximum eight-hour day for canning factory employees and the double wage provisions for overtime work. The industry in Ohio employs more than 40,000 persons at the peak of the canning season.

TEAGARDEN IN CHARGE

Formal sessions of the convention were to get under way at 1 p. m. today with the opening address by O. L. Teagarden, of Oak Harbor, O., president of the state canning association. Dr. T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio State University, and William E. Evans, assistant attorney general, were included on the afternoon speaking program.

Action on the labeling question will be taken tomorrow following

Circleville-twp. rate will be $10.40 instead of $11.80 while the school district will $8.10 instead of $10.80.

No other tentative rates are yet ready to be announced. Darby and Deer Creek-twp districts and boards of education were having their hearings Tuesday with the other townships in the following schedule:

Steel authorities are of the opinion that ingot production for the current month will be at least 30 per cent of capacity and may exceed that figure by a fraction.

EDUCATION BOARD TO CHOOSE SUPERINTENDENT NEXT WEEK

Regular Meeting Is Next Tuesday Evening; Three Are Mentioned.

The board of education will meet next Tuesday evening to elect a new superintendent to succeed Edwin L. Daley, for whom funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Mr. Daley was serving in his second year as superintendent after being grade school supervisor for nearly 15 years.

Charles H. May, president of the education board, made the announcement Tuesday that the important meeting would be held next week. It is possible the board will meet between now and next week to discuss applicants and possibly reduce the number.

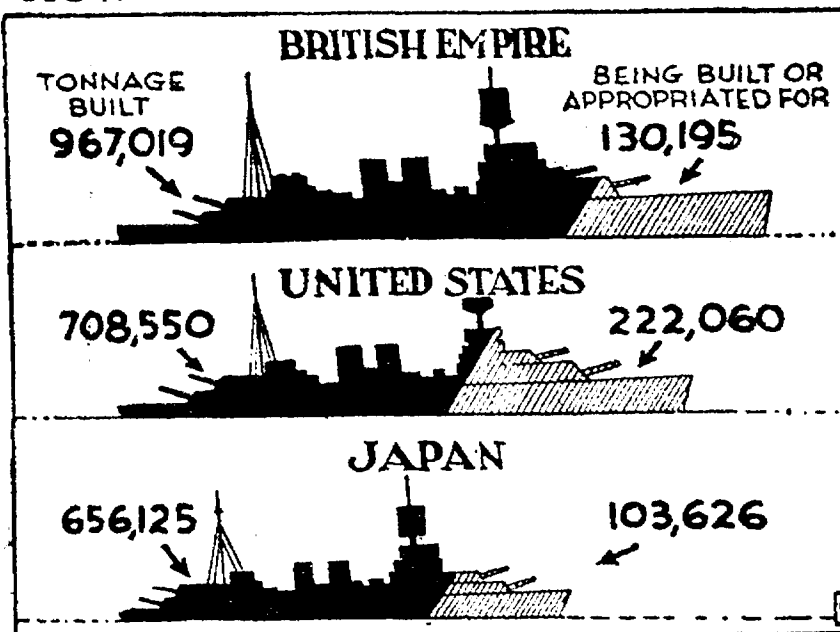

Those seeking the job, although the vacancy has prevailed only a few days, many are already seeking the position.

3 ARE MENTIONED

Rumor has it that the board of education will not go outside the city to obtain its new superintendent. That brings up the names of three persons as possibilities, E. J. Gephart, who is serving his seventh year as high school principal; Frank Fischer, member of the high school faculty, and J. O. Eagleson, former superintendent. It is believed all three either will be or are applicants.

Under instructions Mr. Gephart is now handling the duties of superintendent and principal as he will continue to do until some provision is made by the board of education.

"TEACHER DOES IT" WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A pupil's innocent explanation of "Well, the teacher does it," when reprimanded for smoking, prompted the District of Columbia public schools association today to demand the dismissal of all teachers who smoke, drink and use narcotics.

The association drafted a resolution for submission to the school commissioners tomorrow which stated teachers indulging in such habits have a "bad effect" on the children.

REPORT 4 CRITES PLANTS FOR SALE

An advertisement in a Columbus newspaper today brought the news that canning plants at Ashville, New Holland, Jeffersonville, and Christian, Ill., are for sale. It is believed these plants are the property of Crites, Inc., holding company for the interests of H. M. Crites.

It was impossible to reach Mr. Crites or his son Meinhard today for a statement since both were in Columbus attending the convention of the Ohio Canners association.

The Ohio plants were advertised as equipped for packing corn, peas and other vegetables and the Illinois plant for handling corn.

The Ashville and New Holland plants, according to the advertisement, packed approximately 160,000 cases of peas, corn and pumpkin this year.

BRUNO WINS FIRST POINT

Hearing For Bill of Particulars Granted By Justice Trenchard.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 11.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, charged with the murder of Baby Lindberg, today scored his first victory in his fight for life with the state of New Jersey when Supreme Court Justice Thomas Trenchard set Thursday as the date for argument by Hauptmann's counsel for an order to show cause why the state should not be required to grant a bill of particulars in the case.

Hauptmann was present in court as Frederick A. Pope, of defense counsel, presented his motion requesting that the state reveal the evidence on which it bases its charge of murder.

"Do these gentlemen represent you, Mr. Hauptmann?" Justice Trenchard asked, referring to Attorneys Pope and Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington.

The agate-eyed prisoner, taciturn, sullen, nodded his head and muttered:

"Yes."

Justice Trenchard will preside at the trial.

Today's trip out of the Flemington-co jail was Hauptmann's first since he was taken there nearly two months ago.

He was brought into court at the express order of Justice Trenchard who refused to hear Pope's motion until Hauptmann was brought in.

LEGISLATORS AMONG LOST; WALLS FALL

Many Bodies Missing, Others Dive From Windows Through Ice

SCREAMS FILL AIR

Lansing, Mich., Scene of Tragic Blaze

LANSDING, Mich., Dec. 11.—Fire Chief Hugo R. Delfs said at 10 a. m. that at least 37 persons perished in the Kerns fire early today.

Chief Delfs said he had been unable to check the number of bodies recovered, but that he arrived at the death toll estimate of 37 by comparing reports brought in by his men who were going into the ruins.

The hotel was filled with state legislators called to Lansing for a special session.

Only two of the dead were identified. They were Rep. E. Henry Howlett of Howell, Mich., and I. Wisniewski of Los Angeles.

Three others, a woman and two men, jumped from windows to the icy streets and died of their injuries, on the way to Sparrow hospital.

Police said four more bodies were taken from the Grand river, in which many of those trapped in the hotel were feared to have drowned. The doomed guests leaped from windows into the river, which flowed along one wall of the building.

Firemen and officials could only guess at how many victims lay among the smoking ruins. No check on the guest list was possible because the register was destroyed by the flames.

Thirty were known to be injured in St. Lawrence and Sparrow hospitals. It was believed others were receiving treatment at private homes or smaller hospitals.

William Kerns, and his wife, who owned the hotel and occupied a lower floor suite, escaped in their night clothing. The building was an old brick structure, for many years a favorite meeting place for legislators and politicians.

The fire, starting from some unknown cause about 5:30 a. m. it roared through the entire second floor, cutting off the hundreds of guests who were on the two top floors. The walls collapsed within half an hour after firemen arrived.

David Monroe, brother of the hotel manager and stepson of Kerns, the owner, was believed among the dead. He was not seen after he plunged into the smoke-filled lobby in an effort to rescue some of the guests.

The fire extinguished all lights in the hotel a few moments after the night clerk, I. J. Jones, discovered it after a guest had phoned the desk saying he smelled smoke.

FIRE ESCAPES MISSED

The darkening of the little red lights which marked entrances to the outside fire escapes was believed to have cost many lives. Some of the guests who escaped by leaping from windows said they saw crowds of people running through the smokey halls trying to find the fire escapes.

The screams of those trapped inside the burning building could be heard for a block, above the roar of the flames, before the walls collapsed. Many of the doomed men and women leaped from windows onto a low section of the

POST OFFICE URGES HELP OF MAILERS

List of Requirements Outlined With "Shop and Mail Early" Paramount.

The following recommendations for sending Christmas mail and packages were announced today by Postmaster Hulse Hays upon instructions of Postmaster General James A. Farley:

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day the public should SHOP AND MAIL EARLY. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends, and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families.

of personal correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels. an address by Mr. Orr. Orr will speak on "The New Label Requirements."

Stoops, in explaining the stand of the canners, declared that the organization wanted a descriptive label instead of the graded label. "The NRA thought it was protecting the public when it ordered us to grade our cans," Stoops said, "but fruit and vegetables under the code can now be rated at either 70 or 79 per cent and still be grade C stuff. Yet the 79 per cent product is almost grade B.

"Under a descriptive labeling plan we would be able to tell the consumer, exactly what is inside the can."

Stoops termed the working requirements of the NRA for canneries "absurd."

Small Sovereignty of Liechtenstein In Difficulty; Peace Is Voted.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Most of the Hungarian victims of Yugoslavia's mass expulsions will be allowed to return to Yugoslavia in the near future, according to a Reuters dispatch from Budapest today.

The dispatch stated Yugoslavian representatives in Budapest had so informed Hungarian government officials.

GENEVA, Dec. 11.—A compromise—with Hungary on the short end and Yugoslavia on the long—has laid the ghosts of King Alexander and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, but many league of nations observers wondered today if further friction in the Balkans had merely been temporarily averted.

TOKYO, Dec. 11.—Approval of Japan's annulment of the Washington naval treaty by the Emperor's privy council was a practical certainty today following the adoption by a special committee of government's draft notification abrogation.

The privy council committee favorable report will be submitted to the full council Dec. 19.

Notice of Japan's intention to withdraw from the treaty probably be sent to the signatory governments within a day or two afterwards.

VON BORA HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY; ELECTS OFFICERS

Beautiful decorations appropriate for the approaching Yuletide season were predominant at the annual Christmas party of the Von Bora society of Trinity Lutheran church Monday evening in the Parish house.

A delicious dinner preceded the society's business and program. Miss Magdalene Trump was chairman of the committee in charge.

The dining room where about fifty members and guests assembled was colorful with Christmas greens, symbols and red candles.

The long tables were uniquely arranged forming a star and in the center of the star was a beautifully lighted and decorated Christmas tree under which were the gifts brought by the members for exchange.

The tables lighted with red tapers were attractive with red crepe paper streamers in the center and greens and symbols. Christmas greeting cards were used as place cards.

Following the dinner hour Mrs. James Stout, president, conducted a short devotional period consisting of prayer by Dr. Troutman scripture, and group singing of carols.

During the business meeting of the society for the ensuing year were elected. Mrs. Mary Bower was named president; Miss Lucile Crist, vice president; Mrs. E. S. Merriman, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Fox, assistant secretary; Miss Bernice Cook, treasurer, and Miss Helen Crist, pianist.

The society voted to send $25 to a missionary in India for Christmas and $10 to a minister in Idaho. A committee of five was appointed to select Christmas seals for the benefit of the sanatorium in San Antonio, Texas.

Following the business session Mrs. Elmer Wolf read two interesting Christmas legends and a clever number was given by Mrs. William Fitzpatrick which afforded much amusement. She was introduced as an editor of a large newspaper visiting here in the city and read a number of Santa Claus letters supposed to have been written by members of the society.

A contest was then enjoyed. Each member was to draw a Santa Claus and prizes went to the persons having the best drawings. Mrs. Elmer Wolf, first and Mrs. E. S. Merriman, second. Bringing the happy evening to a close Santa Claus in the person of Gladden Troutman distributed the gifts under the tree which afforded a merry hour.

About This And That

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

STRONG TEAM SEEN

Announcement that the Circleville Athletic club will support a cage team this winter is greeted with pleasure. The club aggregation should be plenty tough with Barnes, Heggele and Purcell each adding a year's experience to back up the veteran members of the squad who include Steele, Parks, Gordon and Merriman. Games are being lined up and some interesting aggregations are expected to come here during the winter season.

ACADEMY HERE

In addition to the club team the high school's play last Friday made it many friends and a continuation this week would mean a real cage year. The Tigers handled the ball better than any team since the Central Buckeye league title was won way back when. The Red and Black can hardly be expected to turn back the Columbus Academy team Friday but by putting up a good game the crowd is certain to be pleased.

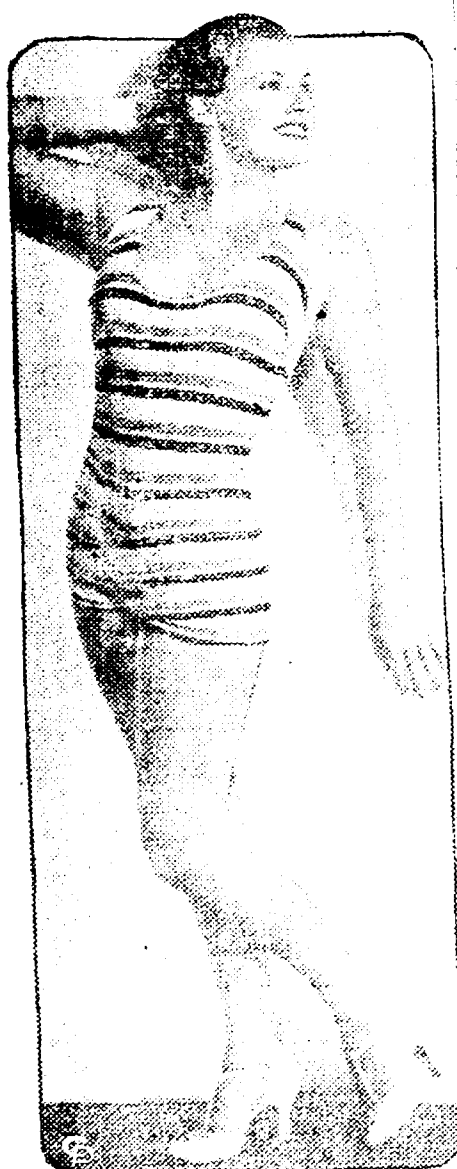

COUNTY TEAMS TOO

Add the fact that the county teams have entered another of their hot campaigns and it seems that Circleville and Pickaway-co will have plenty of basketball this winter.

GOPHERS HONORED

Selection of the Minnesota football team as the best in the nation under the Dickinson rating system means that the Gophers will receive the Rockne football trophy. It will be presented by Professor Frank Dickinson, originator of the rating system.

Status Under Fire

Eleanor Holm Jarrett

Charges that Eleanor Holm Jarrett gave her personal endorsement to an advertisement for a swimming suit led to hearings before the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union in Miami, Fla., during which the amateur status of the swimming star was questioned.

BUCKEYE CAGE TEAMS STRONG

Wesleyan Defends Honors; All Teams Have Numerous Lettermen Back.

By Gilson Wright

DELAWARE, Dec. 11.—The Buckeye conference will be tougher than ever during the coming basketball season.

This statement, from Coach John Mauer of the Miami team, is typical of the sentiment that pervades Buckeye basketball circles this winter.

Each of the five competing colleges boasts a combination better than last year, and even then a great race was furnished followers of the sport. Ohio Wesleyan champion last winter, has six lettermen back; Cincinnati, which tied with Marshall for second place, has five lettermen; Marshall has only a few veterans but will be stronger due to some exceptional sophomores material; Ohio, which dropped near the cellar last winter, has five lettermen, and so does Miami, the last-place team of a year ago.

Cincinnati's team again will be built around Carl Austing, all-Buckeye center, who shone as a sophomore last year.

Ohio Wesleyan not only has six lettermen but also some brilliant sophomores, one of whom is John McAdams, Urbana, who may win a regular berth on the first team.

The Buckeye schedule does not begin until Jan. 5, but until that time the five conference teams will get plenty of tuning up in non-conference games. This week, for example, will find most of the teams busy. On Wednesday night Hanover will be at Cincinnati, Georgetown at Miami, and Wilmington at Ohio. On Friday night Ohio Wesleyan will meet Goodyear at Akron, and on Saturday night Wilmington will play at Cincinnati.

Bowling News

Losing three games last week, the Bakers came back to win three Monday evening to continue to lead the City bowling league by a safe margin. The Hot Shots were victims of the ire of the Baker team.

MAJOR LEAGUE MEET STARTS

Many Rumors Reported But Nothing Yet Done In Way of Trading.

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The Boston Red Sox can have Oscar Melillo as their 1935 second baseman if they're willing to part with outfielder Solters, an odd infielder or two (if they aren't a little odd, they aren't in Boston) and cash. Walter Berger, hitting outfielder, and Dutch Brandt, the pitching pitcher, aren't for sale by the Braves. Terry already has obtained his right-hand hitting outfielder from another national league club but nobody knows who he is. The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh deal for Babe Herman and Cuccinello is definitely not on at the moment. Babe Ruth is not looking for a job but his volunteer lockers would fill the New York aquarium. That's a splendid idea. Even the fish wouldn't know which side of the glass they were on.

MEET THREE DAYS

These, briefly, are a few of the overnight developments as hundreds of baseball men prepared this morning to air the sideburns and ink the heels for the next three days. Maybe I shouldn't have mentioned the heels. Somebody is liable to take offense, not knowing which heel out of so many I might mean.

Anyhow, and not to make a short story long, the annual meetings of the major leagues are now on the schedule here, starting today, with I suppose much mystery and little action promised.

Some weeds can compete with good bluegrass. A few examples among many are ball buster, Canada thistle, ironweed, white yarrow, and milkweed. By persistent mowing, these weeds may be kept in check.

KINGSTON

The Men's Brotherhoods of Tarleton, Laurelville, Adelphi, Hallsville and Kingston will enjoy a chicken dinner on Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The men are invited to bring their wives and sweethearts. A special speaker with a splendid musical program with an orchestra and special musical numbers, will be presented. Let all members be present.

The Whistler Aid society met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dwight Rector and enjoyed an all day meeting with a potluck dinner served at the noon hour. Forty members and guests enjoyed this delightful Christmas party.

Mrs. Charlotte Boden received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. Amelia Yoders of Green-co, Pa. Mrs. Yoder was 84 years of age.

Mrs. Francis Snyder and son, David Lee and Miss Ada Merriman spent from Friday until Sunday evening with friends in Columbus.

Mrs. W. K. Orr left on Monday morning to spend the week with relatives in Columbus.

W. F. M. MEETING

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church met on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 6, at the home of Mrs. George L. Borders. The meeting came to order at 2:30 o'clock with the president, Miss Carrie Umsted, presiding.

Miss Umsted appointed Mrs. N. J. Ford, Mrs. Norman Pyle and Mrs. Emma Miller to study plans for work for the coming year. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach with Mrs. A. C. Brundage assistant hostess.

LONDON. No one as old as 78 should be allowed to drive an automobile. This was the verdict handed down by a coroner's jury which probed the death of a 77-year-old widow who had been knocked down by a car driven by Mrs. Mabel Gausson, 75-year-old widow. Mrs. Gausson said she had been driving since 1904 but would not drive again.

FEAR 37 DIE IN FIRE

building, used as a kitchen. They had settled down to await rescue, witnesses said, when a falling wall buried them from sight.

The thin ice which sheathed the river at the rear of the hotel was peppered with hundreds of holes. Some were made by falling bricks and pieces of debris. Other larger ones marked the spots where the bodies of those who leaped from the rear windows crashed into the river.

It was feared that many bodies would be found in the mud of the river bed. The water behind the hotel was not more than five feet deep, and firemen said those leaping from the third and fourth floors might have plunged into the muck and been trapped there.

The Hotel Wentworth, part of the same building, but divided from the Hotel Kerns by a fire wall, was saved from the flames, and its guests escaped without casualties.

Appalled by the tragedy which followed the summoning of the unprecedented special session to determine election results, the house of representatives met briefly and recessed until 3 p. m. It was believed the entire session would be recessed until Friday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 11.—A 76-year-old woman invalid was carried to safety by firemen and 35 other persons, including many children, were driven out into the bitter cold today when a two-alarm fire swept three tenement houses.

Mrs. J. N. Horton, 76, who had been ill in bed, was rescued by firemen who responded to an alarm turned in by two patrolmen who discovered the blaze.

Extreme cold hampered efforts of firemen who concentrated their efforts in preventing the spread of the fire to other wooden tenements nearby. The blaze started in a garage between two tenement houses.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 11.—Despite efforts of the Swansea and Fall River fire departments aiding the Somerset department in fighting the conflagration, fire today had apparently doomed the Crowingshield Shipbuilding company of Somerset, one of the largest of its kind on the Atlantic seaboard.

A SKETCH
In Memory of My Friend

By J. W. J.

It has always seemed to me that Bulwer Lytton expressed the nearest factual conception of immortality and a future life when he poetically declared, "There is no Death". There is no death, the leaves may fall and flowers may fade and pass away. They only wait thru wintry hours, The coming of the May.

And ever near us the unseen, The dear immortal spirits tread; For all the boundless universe Is Life—there are no Dead.

In Pike-co among its rugged hills, Edwin Leonidas Daley first saw the light of the world and in honor of his family and near of kin, a village on the Peepee, was named Daleyville. Just across the stream and on a northern hillside stood the log cabin in which the son was born. A few steps to the east, in the village graveyard in which sleep the father and other kinsfolk. No other spot in all the world, held the fascination for him as did the scene of his birth; and although, with his parents, he began the journey northward at a very early age, he never lost interest in the old farm home and its environment. There was the deep, dark and rocky wooded glen along which a small stream meandered toward the creek and the cabin home. A score or more of times in some fifty years of absence, accompanied by his pals of Pickaway, the old home scenes have been re-visited. It was as if—

The roses nowhere bloomed so white as in Pike;
The sun nowhere shone so bright as it did in Pike;
The birds nowhere sang so sweet, And nowhere hearts so lightly beat,
For heaven and earth seemed to meet,
Down there in Pike.

In the course of time, the cabin home with all its fond and early associations, was left behind and the family moved to Jackson for a year or two. Then the Plains of Pickaway beckoned and for awhile the big Emmitt farm south of Circleville became the home of the Daleys. Ultimately, a final change was effected in the establishment of a permanent residence near New Holland. Here the father died and Edwin, the youngest of the family went to live with his eldest brother, making a farm hand in the summer and attending the village school in the winter. In due time he graduated from the high school with a further ambition to teach and to secure a college education.

In the absence of a father, there came the time when Edwin was compelled to consider the welfare of a widowed mother and at least one sister. He faithfully responded to this obligation, the mother passing away since the removal to Circleville. Out of a large family of eight children but one survives, the sister Mary at the home in Park Place.

It will not be out of place to mention, just here, that one of Mr. Daley's long-time associates, was W. M. Reid now retired. Both began the work of teaching at about the same time, their efforts being substantially contemporaneous. Together they secured their first certificates, likewise, their high school and life certificates; they removed to Circleville at about the same time and for more than forty years at no time widely separated, they continued to be an effective influence in matters of education and school management.

Mr. Daley was rapidly demonstrating his efficiency as a city school Superintendent. His place will not be safely and easily filled. He was a right-minded and progressive educator; an exemplary citizen and an honor to family and community life in all their relations.

The subject of this memoir, came into the world breathing the atmosphere of pioneer life and living. The forests, many of them, were still uncut. Mud roads were the only arteries of travel. Farm life, albeit, fundamental as to food, raiment and shelter, was rugged and yet essential to future development and comfort—

Though humble were the homes of old
And gray, against the maples gold
And wahoo's red, yet they were still
A home to those who crossed its sill
At dawn and noon and even-tide.

Behind the plow and the hoe, there was born in this lad of the farm, a love for books and a desire for learning. Not unlike a Lincoln to whom he has been likened in physique and stature and in an ambition to accomplish, he kept up his work in school by the light of a lamp following a day in the fields. Some twenty years ago and subsequent to much of his work done in the country schools, he removed to Circleville where he has since made his home in the Lindsey residence in Park Place. It was from this home that he laid to rest in Forest Cemetery the mother over whom he had watched and for whom he had cared tenderly for many years; and by whose side in God's Acre, he now takes his place.

Edwin L. Daley was, essentially,

a child of Nature. As he grew in years his interest in the world's out-doors, increased. Nominally, he was a votary of religion and the church. But more and more as the shadows lengthened, he worshiped more earnestly and we believe acceptably, in God's First Temples. He reveled in forest and field; in the verdure of spring; in the gold and brown of the autumn time; in plant, leaf and flower; in the growing crops and in the plenitude of a plentiful harvest. It was as if he had said—

I love a field that runs along
Beside an old rail fence;
The other side of which there grows

A tangled mass of grape and rose
To make a hedge-row dense.

A field all planted in straight lines,
Of satin-bladed corn,
That waves and flutters in the breeze
Like pennants windward borne.

I follow down the narrow ways,
Each path a tasseled aisle,
Until I reach the old rail fence
And there I rest awhile.

I love a field of rustling corn,
A grape-vine covered fence;
The perfume of the sweet wild rose,
A breeze that from the wood-land blows
Beyond the hedge-row dense.

In his unexpected departure, beside a host of friends wherever he was known, he leaves to mourn a bevy of Nature-lovers and amateur botanists, one among whom and one of the most beloved, Harry G. Stevenson, preceded him in the long way that all must tread alone. Together from time to time, they roamed over hills and through valleys and caverns in southern and central Ohio, discovering, identifying and cataloging, hundreds of the state's new and interesting flora.

These pilgrimages were not infrequently made on a Sunday and may be their devotions were unorthodox; and yet there was the calling of the hills in whose shadows were the dim cathedral aisles that beckoned to reverent thought and praise, unhindered. The gift of song was withheld from our friend whom we now mourn. But those who knew him best and most intimately, will agree that the following stanzas, under the caption of "The Autumn Woods," contain the very essence and interpretation of his soul—

Yellow and red and golden brown,
Fluttering, loitering, leaves come down;
And shrilly insistent the crickets call.

settled on the Chicago area today. The deep drifts of snow that piled up street car, bus and automobile traffic during the rush hour last night, both victims died of heart

From every cranny and nook and wall,
So what, the duty and conscience frown,
Can keep me penned in the teaming town?

Soft white silk from milkweed bud,
Sun-bright bloom of the golden rod,
Early apples that blushing fall,
And a soft haze over all,
For me the path the free have trod,
Alone with Nature and Truth and God.

Driven by a north wind that reached a velocity of 45 miles an hour, the blizzard centered its fury on Chicago with the eastern part of the city bearing the brunt. Suburbs and towns to the west escaped the storm which extended no further north than Waukegan, Ill.

Weather forecasters said the freak storm was due to a sudden shift of moisture-laden wind from evening were blamed for two attacks as they struggled through the snow drifts.

500 SHOVEL SNOW
Five hundred men enlisted by the emergency relief commission joined bureau of streets crews today in shoveling the snow from the streets and boulevards. Scores of city and traction company plows and sweepers were gradually restoring automobile, bus and trolley service to normal.

Hundreds of automobiles were stalled in the drifting snow to ensnarl other traffic. Many cars were stalled by short circuits caused by the fine snow that drifted through the hoods.

Volunteers their blood for fusion.

Lake Michigan then hit the snow line. Airplane schedules were disrupted but not entirely by the storm.

Extra crews were necessary to keep switches open and rolling on schedule.

OFFICER INJURED
A tragic accident occurred at height of the blizzard's fury. Policeman Herbert Eckel, while trying to carry a negro woman to county hospital for the birth of a baby, was crushed against his patrol wagon by an automobile. A putation of both of Eckel's was necessary and in answer to radio broadcast, 100 patrolmen volunteered their blood for fusion.

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—Acting secretly and swiftly, German police detectives this morning arrested Miss Isabel Steele, Hollywood girl held in jail for more than two months on vague charges of spying, to Hamburg for transportation.
